Through living examples, your course will allow you to see first-hand how your knowledge and skills and the findings of research and fieldwork can be applied on the ground to initiate and drive successful sustainable projects. We will show you how the development of appropriate expertise leads to sustainable decision-making, which can be modelled and practiced practically. You will also get the opportunity to visit an ongoing livelihood project in rural Kenya and learn about the local issues, knowledge and practice in sustainable livelihoods and community development, and the perspectives of the community in the design and implementation of livelihood projects. In order to
