Story

The world, the lands between, is bathed in the unending twilight of the Last Age, which is split into the elemental planes, where the Lands Between lie between them. There are four elements in this plane: fire, water, earth, and wind. In this world, there are numerous countries, castles, towns, and mountains, among which powerful armies controlled by the warring princes tread.

In the age before the Invaded Earth, the races of the world lived together in peace. The elves and men of the Three Lands made up the Elden people. Elden equaled the elves, and there were few legends of the elves hiding in the Lands Between. In the last days of the Last Age, the Invaded Earth broke out. The powerful and greedy Empire of the Invaded Earth attempted to take over the three lands. Numerous soldiers and spies went out and returned with a tale of the Elden Ring. Then, the Rushing Waves of Shadows came from the underworld to destroy the lands and the people. The hunter guilders, men who searched for the elves after seeing the tale, went out in search of the Ring. This is the story of your adventure, Tarnished.

World Discovery

As you explore the world, you can explore vast and varied environments, climb mountains, and climb a tower. Through the look and the feel of the world, the vast plan landscape is dynamically grown. You can enjoy information about the people and place during the course of your adventure. Or even at a distance, you can find that there are living, researching, and training elves in a hidden village. The more you explore the world, the closer you connect to the town and its people.

While exploring, if you get hurt, you can take medical leaves. If you visit a town or a neighboring country for an extended period of time, you can stay, and you'll increase the wealth of the realm.
