Interna Medicina Knjiga.Q: Show connection string in asp.net web application i'm using Entity framework (MS SQL Server) in an asp.net web application. I want to display the connection string to the user. Is it possible? How can i do this? Thanks in advance! A: I think you'd be better off doing it at the app start up and returning some default (or appSetting) value if the value is missing. --- title: Rollback to latest stable release sourceCodeUrl: " --- **`expo start` uses the latest release of Expo CLI** as of {version}. In case your goal is to use a different Expo CLI version, consider exporting an environment variable called `EXPO_CLI_VERSION` with a path to the target version. The number of people living with HIV (PLHIV) in Africa is increasing. Many countries of West Africa, including Benin, are affected. Little is known about the influence of HIV on the reproductive system. Therefore, this study aimed to investigate the possible impact of HIV infection on semen quality and testicular morphometry. Semen samples were obtained from 36 HIV-1-infected men, mostly asymptomatic, and 39 HIV-negative men (control group) of similar age. The numbers of spermatozoa and sperm quality were analyzed using standard semen parameters. The
